The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth less than their original cost and current performance may be higher or lower than the performance quoted. The Fund charges a 2.00% redemption fee on shares held less than 30 days. Investment performance does not reflect this redemption fee; if it was reflected, the total return would be lower than shown. For performance data current to the most recent month end, please call 1-844-KC-FUNDS.

Gross Expense Ratio: 0.82%, Net Expense Ratio: 0.50%. Waivers are contractual and in effect until February 28, 2021. In the absence of current fee waivers, performance would be reduced.

GROWTH OF $10,000 (As of 12/31/2020)

Chart depicts the value of a hypothetical $10,000 investment in the Fund over the past 10 years (or since inception for funds lacking 10-year history). Investment performance is for Class I shares, and assumes the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. The performance would have been lower if the Class A sales charges were deducted.

QUARTERLY COMMENTARY

For the quarter ended December 31, 2020, the Knights of Columbus Limited Duration Fund – I Shares (“Fund”) outperformed its benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays 1-3 Year Government/Credit Index, returning +0.47% compared to +0.21% for the benchmark. For the 2020 calendar year, the Fund slightly underperformed the benchmark, returning +3.17% versus +3.33% for the benchmark. The Fund ranked in the 67th percentile of its peer group for the 2020 calendar year; its trailing twelve-month return was 40 bps below the +3.57% average return of the Lipper Short Investment Grade Debt Universe. The Lipper rankings are based on total returns for the one year ending 12/31/20, the fund was ranked against 369 funds in the Short Investment Grade Debt Fund category.

The economy began to recover in the second half of the year as GDP (GDP CQOQ) rose 33.4% in the third quarter following a 31.4% decline and a 5.0% decline in the second and first quarter, respectively. As can be expected in a recovering economy with short rates held at low levels by the Federal Reserve, the curve steepened with 2 year Treasuries essentially unchanged and 10 year Treasuries rising 23 basis points (bps) over the fourth quarter. The pandemic continued to heavily influence the performance of the economy. Progress was made on the vaccine front with both the Moderna and Pfizer vaccines receiving Emergency Use Authorization.

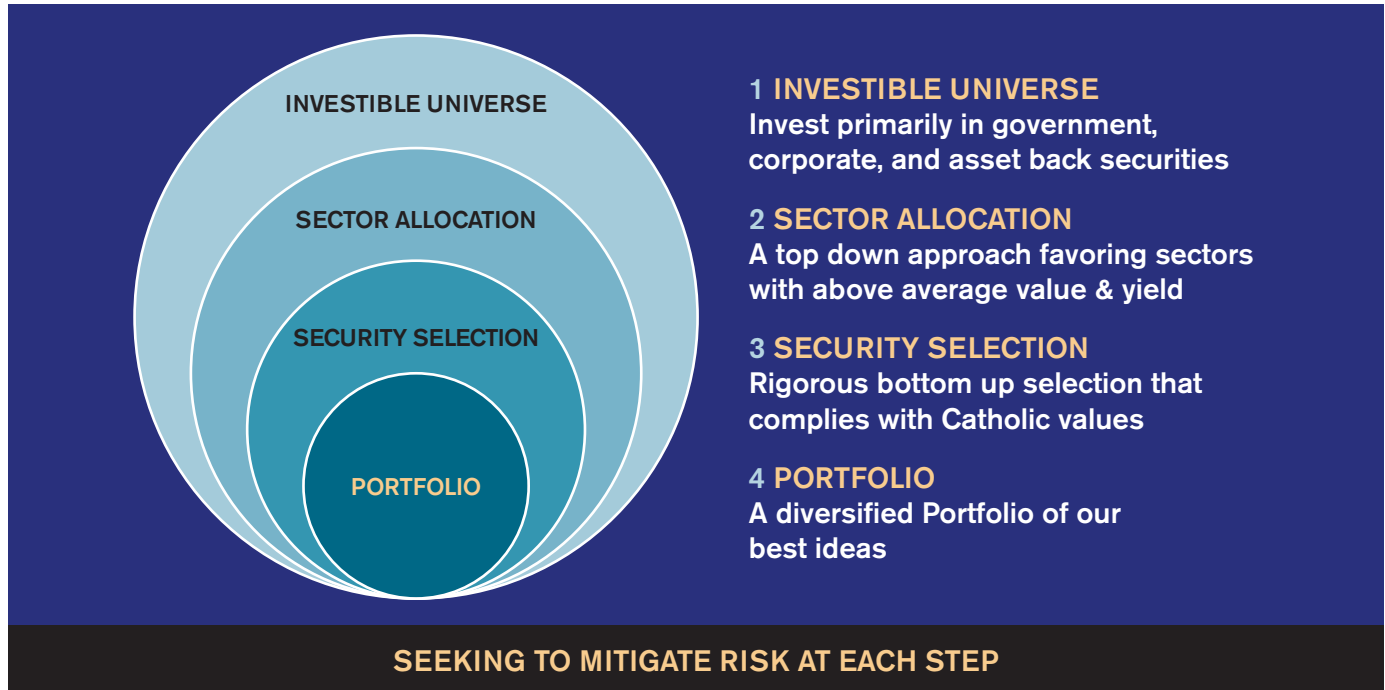

The information provided herein represents the opinion of the manager at a specific point in time and is not intended to be a forecast of future events, a guarantee of future results nor investment advice.

The optimism brought on by vaccine approvals lifted economic projections and improved risk sentiment causing spread compression to accelerate. For example, Bloomberg Barclays Baa Corporate Average (LCB1OAS) spread declined 21 bps in the second quarter and fell another 52 bps in the fourth quarter.

Spreads trended tighter over the quarter, but movements were more subdued given the slowing pace of the recovery. The Fund's outperformance in the quarter was driven by our primary strategy of being overweight spread sectors. Our overweight to Financials was the largest contributor to outperformance in the quarter as the sector continued to catch up with credit sectors spread movements in the previous quarter. Security selection in Industrials was particularly strong, with company selections in the Transportation and Energy sectors generating the most relative outperformance.

We believe the markets are heavily dependent on progress rolling out the vaccines. If these efforts are successful, the economy can perform quite well. In addition, a supplemental stimulus package could provide a bridge to a post-covid economy. Given the varying short term impacts the pandemic has had on different sectors and the uneven long term implications of what the economy looks like coming out of it, we believe sector and issue selection will be critical within our high quality, diversified bond portfolio.

*Credit-quality ratings are measured on a scale that generally ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). "NR" is used when a rating is not available. "U.S. Government" includes U.S. Treasury, U.S. Agency, and U.S. Agency mortgage-backed securities. Ratings are obtained from Barclays using ratings from Moody's Investors Service, Fitch Ratings, and Standard & Poor's. When ratings from all three agencies are available, the median rating is used. When ratings are available from two of the agencies, the lower rating is used.

Bloomberg Barclays 1-3 Year U.S. Government/Credit Index – The U.S. Government/Credit Index is the non-securitized component of the U.S. Aggregate Index and was the first macro index launched by Barclays Capital.

Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index – The U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is a broad-based flagship benchmark that measures the investment grade, U.S. dollar-denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market

Lipper Short Investment Grade Debt – Funds that invest primarily in investment-grade debt issues (rated in the top four grades) with dollar-weighted average maturities of less than three years.

This material must be preceded or accompanied by a current prospectus. Investors should read it carefully before investing or sending money.

Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Bonds and bond funds are subject to interest rate risk and will decline in value as interest rates rise. High yield bonds involve greater risks of default or downgrade and are more volatile than investment grade securities, due to the speculative nature of their investments. Mortgage-backed securities are subject to prepayment and extension risk and therefore react differently to changes in interest rates than other bonds. Small movements in interest rates may quickly and significantly reduce the value of certain mortgage-backed securities. There is no guarantee that the investment objective will be achieved. Holdings are subject to change.
